ACADEMIC CALENDAR

The college prepares its Academic Calendar based on the Terms of Arrangement received from the University of Mumbai. This calendar serves as a detailed schedule outlining the start and end dates of each semester, ensuring students and faculties are well-informed about the academic timeline. It provides a structured framework for academic activities, thereby highlighting the celebration and observation of various National and International Days. These events are integral to fostering a culturally enriched environment, promoting awareness and appreciation of significant historical, social, and global milestones among students. The Academic Calendar also includes a schedule for guest lectures, ensuring that students have opportunities to gain insights from experts across diverse fields. These lectures complement the formal curriculum, offering practical perspectives and enhancing the overall educational experience. The Academic Calendar is structured per the University's term schedule, but flexibility is maintained to accommodate unforeseen events and incorporate new activities for students. By comprehensively specifying these elements, the Academic Calendar ensures that the college operates smoothly and efficiently. It helps students, faculty, and staff to plan and prepare adequately, contributing to a well-organized and enriching academic environment. This proactive approach reflects the college's commitment to providing an over-all and structured educational experience.

ORIENTATION PROGRAMME

The college organizes an Orientation Programme for new batches to welcome and familiarize students with campus life and academic expectations. This program serves as an essential introduction, helping students transition smoothly into their new environment. During orientation, students are provided with comprehensive information about the institution's policies and regulations.

One key aspect covered is the Attendance Policy. Students are informed about the importance of regular attendance and the requirements they must meet to maintain their academic standing. This ensures that students understand the expectations for their participation in classes and the potential consequences of non-compliance.

The orientation also emphasizes the Anti-Ragging Policy, underscoring the college's commitment to creating a safe and respectful environment. Students learn about the strict measures in place to prevent any form of ragging or harassment, along with the support systems available for those who may experience or witness such incidents.

Additionally, the Code of Conduct is thoroughly explained, outlining the standards of behaviour expected from all students. This includes academic integrity, respect for peers and faculty, and adherence to the institution's values and ethics. By addressing these crucial areas, the Orientation Programme ensures that new students are well-informed, prepared, and integrated into the college community, fostering a positive and conducive learning environment.

TIME TABLE

The college meticulously prepares the timetable designed to comprehensively include dedicated slots for various activities, fostering a well-rounded academic experience.

Tutorials are scheduled to provide personalized guidance and reinforce classroom learning, allowing students to peep deeper into complex legal concepts and clarify doubts.

Remedial sessions are included to support students who may need extra help, ensuring that everyone has the opportunity to excel and grasp the material fully.

Moot court exercises are strategically integrated into the timetable to develop students' advocacy skills, legal research, and writing abilities. These exercises simulate real courtroom scenarios, helping students gain practical experience and confidence in their legal argumentation and public speaking skills.

Paper presentation slots are also incorporated, encouraging students to engage in legal research and contribute to academic discourse. These presentations help in honing their analytical skills, critical thinking, and ability to articulate and defend their viewpoints effectively.

By including these elements in the timetable, the college adheres to BCI guidelines and provides a comprehensive educational experience that prepares students for the diverse challenges of the legal profession.

SESSION PLAN

The session plan is a crucial tool meticulously crafted by faculty members to structure the learning journey within each class. It serves as a roadmap, delineating the topics and objectives to be covered during each session. By outlining the sequence of lessons, the session plan ensures a systematic approach to learning, promoting coherence and continuity in understanding complex subjects. It allows instructors to allocate time effectively, ensuring sufficient coverage of material while accommodating interactive discussions, activities, and assessments. This also serves as a guideline for both teachers and learners, facilitating effective classroom management and promoting engagement.

TO ENSURE COMPREHENSIVE LEARNING, STUDENTS ENGAGE WITH A DIVERSE ARRAY OF PEDAGOGICAL METHODS WITHIN THE FIELD OF LAW.

The students engage with a diverse array of pedagogical methods to ensure comprehensive learning by embracing various approaches that cater to different learning and enhance their understanding of legal concepts. As such the faculties instructs students to indulge in various methods such as:

1. Case Method: Analyzing judicial decisions helps students understand how legal principles are applied in real-world scenarios. Reading, briefing, and discussing cases in class fosters critical thinking and analytical skills. The entire law course is structured around the case method approach. This method helps students develop critical thinking and analytical skills.
2. Socratic Method: Engaging in dialogues with teachers through the Socratic method encourages active learning, sharpens reasoning abilities, and enhances understanding of complex legal issues. This method is commonly used to foster critical thinking and in-depth understanding of legal principles. Students are given specific cases or statutes or legal reading before class and they are expected to come to class prepared, having read and analysed the material.
3. Problem-Based Learning (PBL): Working on hypothetical legal problems or case studies helps students apply legal theories to practical situations, promoting problem-solving skills and practical knowledge. Students are given a hypothetical legal scenario and they are expected to apply legal principles and frameworks to find effective solutions. This method often involves group work fostering collaboration and teamwork.
4. Clinical Legal Education: Participating in legal clinics allows students to gain hands-on experience by working on actual cases under the supervision of Senior Advocates/Practicing Alumni. This practical exposure is invaluable for developing professional skills and understanding the realities of legal practice.

ORDER

This is first bail application u/S.438 Cr.P.C filed by the applicants for grant of anticipatory bail.

and took away. Rajkumar, Bharat and Manoj were present on the spot, they saw the incident. He searched his son but could not trace him. On his report aforesaid offence was registered. Afterwards accused persons did marpeet with Akash and in unconscious state left him in forest. He informed his family members.

From the side of applicants-accused, it is submitted that FIR lodged by cousin of applicant accused Harshita due to same incident of 2.4.22 at 5:30 pm has been filed. As per learned counsel on the same date of incident so called kidnaped Akash alongwith Raj and Bharat molested cousin sister of applicant-accused of which written complaint was lodged at P.S. Dabra Dehat. On that basis 354, 354 E, 506, 34 of IPC was registered. In counterblast of this crime, false FIR has been lodged against present applicant. In such circumstances, learned counsel for applicants prays for grant of anticipatory bail.

Per contra, learned counsel for the State opposed the that a person accused of an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term which may be less than seven years or which may extend to seven years with or without fine, cannot be arrested by the police officer only on his satisfaction that such person had committed the offence punishable as aforesaid. A police officer before arrest, in such cases has to be further satisfied that such arrest is necessary to prevent such person from committing any further offence; or for proper investigation of the case; or to prevent the accused from causing the evidence of the offence to disappear; or tampering with such evidence in any manner; or to prevent such person from making any inducement, threat or promise to a witness so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or the police officer; or unless such accused person is arrested, his presence in the court whenever required cannot be ensured. These are the conclusions, which one may reach based on facts.

7.2. The law mandates the police officer to state the facts and record the reasons in writing which led him to come to a conclusion covered by any of the provisions aforesaid, while making such arrest. The law further requires the police officers to record the reasons in writing for not making the arrest.

7.3. In pith and core, the police officer before arrest must put a question to himself, why arrest? Is it really required? What purpose it will serve? What object it will achieve? It is only after these questions are addressed and one or the other conditions as enumerated above is satisfied, the power of arrest needs to be exercised. Before arrest first the police officers should have reason to believe on the basis of information and material that the accused has committed the offence. Apart from this, the police officer has to be satisfied further that the arrest is necessary for one or the more purposes envisaged by subclauses (a) to (e) of clause (1) of Section 41 Cr.P.C.

9. Another provision i.e. Section 41-A Cr.P.C. aimed to avoid unnecessary arrest or threat of arrest looming large on the accused requires to be vitalised. This provision makes it clear that in all cases where the arrest of a person is not required under Section 41(1) Cr.P.C., the police officer is required to issue notice directing the accused to appear before him at a specified place and time. Law obliges such an accused to appear before the police officer and it further mandates that if such an accused complies with the terms of notice he shall not be arrested, unless for reasons to be recorded, the police officer is of the opinion that the arrest is necessary. At this stage also, the condition precedent for arrest as envisaged under Section 41 Cr.P.C. has to be complied and shall be subject to the same scrutiny by the Magistrate as aforesaid."

Introduction

Though Indian laws prohibit abduction and kidnapping. Since 2005 more than 1,00,000 kidnapping of the people and abduction cases have come up in India. People have continued to take advantage of the tender age of minor to kidnap them and exploit and force them to perform hawala acts. Such offense are an attack on the liberty and freedom of citizen and must be prevented.

As per section 359 of Indian Penal Code kidnapping is of two types:

- (1) Kidnapping from India
- (2) Kidnapping from lawful guardianship

KIDNAPPING FROM INDIA

Section 360 explains kidnapping from India. According to section 360 if any person takes a person beyond the limits of India against the consent of that person or against the consent of someone who is legally entitled to give consent on that person's behalf, then the offense of kidnapping from India is committed.

There are three points of proof in case of kidnapping from India are:

- 1) That the person kidnapped was at the time of the offense in India.
- 2) That the accused conveyed them beyond the limits of India.
- 3) That the accused did so without (i) his consent or (ii) the consent of another legally authorized to consent on his behalf.

- (ii) a minor female under 18 years of age
(iii) a person of unsound mind -
(a) out of the keeping and
(b) without the consent of lawful guardian is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship lawful guardian includes any person lawfully entrusted with the care of custody of the minor or other person

Exception - This section does not apply to the act of a person who in good faith believe himself to be the father or entitled to the custody of an immediately child, unless the act is committed to an immoral or lawful purpose.

When a girl under 16 is kidnapped, it is no defence that the accused did not know that the person kidnapped was under age or believed that she had no guardian
Any one dealing with such a person does so at his peril.

Principal
Principal
Sanskar Sarjan Education Society's

The offense can't be committed. The section has used the words lawful and guardian. It is to be remembered that guardian does not necessarily mean Parents.

Thus in Bulden [(1870) 2 N.W.P. 286] a girl of fourteen years, being left an orphan accompanied a woman to a town where they lived by begging. She was persuaded by one A to depart with him without the knowledge of the woman. She was later betrothed to A's son one B. Pressure was put on A's house and to go with him. This she did. B was there openly convicted of kidnapping. The high court quashed the conviction on the ground that A was not the lawful guardian of the minor as he had not been lawfully entrusted with her care or custody.

Where, however, a minor abandons the house of her guardian, of her own accord and she has no intention of returning to the house she can't be said to continue in the keeping of her lawful guardian.

Under the D. state. OF Maharashtra (1985) S.C. (1982) Where a girl who had attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and was studying in a college telephoned the accused (her lover) to meet her in his car at a certain place. went to that place and finding the accused waiting in the car got into that car of her own accord. The accused took her to certain places & then to the Registrar's office and for the agreement both remained registered there. Threats both remained husband and wife. There was not a evidence that any force or inducement was used. on the contrary it appeared was used that insistence of marriage came from her side. In the circumstances the Supreme Court held that the accused was not guilty of kidnapping.

PUNISHMENT FOR KIDNAPPING.

Section 363 of the Indian Penal code lays down the Punishment for both kinds of Kidnapping (Kidnapping from Indian & lawful Guardianship)

Imprisonment of either term means either of the two imprisonments prescribed in the Indian Penal Code :-

- Simple Imprisonment: This means that during the imprisonment the prisoner is idle and is not required to do any hard labour
- rigorous Imprisonment: This means that during the Imprisonment

ABDUCTION

Section 362 of the Indian Penal Code defines abduction. It says that if a person compels another person to go from one place, or induces some person to go from one place then the offence of abduction is committed.

Thus, Abduction is an offence in which a person is moved from one place against his/her will by forceful compulsion or by any of deceitful means. Clearly the essential of abduction are using force using deceitful means and take the person from a particular

By Force

Section 362 says that abduction can happen in two ways. One of these is force in abduction, a person is forced to go from state of West Bengal. U. Mir & Mohammad Omar in this case, Mir & Mohammad Omar and Sajad Ali wanted Mahesh Kumar to pay INR 50,000 for allowing him to do business but he did not agree to their demands which led to a fight.

In both he was forced. Thus the court held that there is enough evidence to show that Mahesh Kumar was abducted.

Deceitful means

According to section 352, the other way abduction can take place is by inducing someone to go from some place by misleading him/her to do something he/she would not normally do. The scope of inducement here is very wide.

To go from any place

For abduction to be completed, it is essential that the person is compelled to go from one place to some other. Person is not taken to someplace.

KIDNAPPING OR ABDUCTION A WOMAN TO COMPEL HER FOR MARRIAGE ETC.

Section 356 of Indian Penal Code Punishes a person who kidnaps or abducts a woman with the intention of forcing her into marriage or with the knowledge that she would be forced into marriage. It also provides punishment for a person who kidnaps or abducts a person to force her into illicit intercourse.

Minor's production in case of abduct.

Kidnapping OR ABDUCTING TO SUBJECT A PERSON TO GRIEVOUS HURT.

sect. 367 of the IPC states that if a person kidnaps or abducts a person so that such person is subjected to or is put in danger of grievous hurt, slavery or unnatural restraint of any kind.

CONCLUSION

Kidnapping & abduction are dangerous acts which harm the freedom of a person. Section 359 to 369 go a long way in securing the liberty of people. They give protection to children against kidnapping and abduction. Moreover, they reinforce the rights of guardians to have control over the children who are easily moved and controlled by the words of conspiring adult. The number of abduction and kidnapping cases are stop the culture of kidnapping and abduction from spreading especially when it is done for marriage, forced sexual intercourse, courses & forced labor etc.

Moreover, it is needed to be understood that a criminal would go around the laws and include in these acts. What is required to prevent is hard in hand working of non government organisation.

POLLUTER PAYS PRINCIPLE

Introduction

The Industrial Revolution has improved the lives of people in many ways in the 21st century. On the other hand, unfortunately the industrial revolution has caused industrial pollution principle such as 'precautionary principle' and 'polluter pays principle'. are constitutional mandates to curb the degradation of the environment.

What is the polluter pays principle.

The polluter pays principle essentially holds the polluter liable for their pollution caused to the environment. The polluter is liable for every damage caused, to the environment so according to the polluter pay principle the polluter of population but also compensate for the restoration of environment degradation caused under 1972 and 1974 OECD Recommendation (1) (2), the measures to be taken by the polluter for controlling the pollution is decided by the public authorities so that the environment is in acceptable state post the industry the cost of health hazard caused to the public as well as the cost of restoration of the environment. In other words, the costs and services, the should reflect on the cost of goods and services, the production and/or consumption of which led to pollution. The cost of the measures should not be accompanied by the subsidies as it would lead to distortion in international trade and investment.

The polluter pays principle is part of a set of broader principles to guide sustainable development world wide. The polluter pays' principle forms a part of the environmental law of India.

of the principle in A.P. Pollution Control Board v Prof. M. V. Nayudu (Retd) and Ors case. The judges enabled the courts, tribunals and other environmental organisations to apply these principles when cases are registered in the tribunals or organisation.

Article 21 of the Indian constitution emphasises on the basic right of every Indian inhabitant. The basic right mention in Article 21 is right to life and personal liberty. As simple as it can be put, polluting the surroundings of a locality would take away the basic right from the inhabitant. Pollution being the inevitable part of industrialisation, community participation for protection of the environment is a duty of every citizen. Hence, the right to community participation for protection of the environment is considered to flow from Article 21 of the constitution of India.

In India according to section 20 of National Green Tribunal Act, the tribunal can apply for the principles of sustainable development, the polluter pays principle and precautionary principle while passing any order, award or decision for balanced development without harming the mother earth.

Implementation progress of the principle

Principal

Mumbai-400097

In India, the 'polluter pays principle' was for the first time applied and defined in the 1996 case of Indian Council of Enviro - Legal Action vs Union of India. In this case, Justice Dalveer Bhandari determined that reversing the imbalance caused to the ecology is the imbalance caused to the ecology is the part and controlling measures for the pollution caused should rest upon the industry which caused pollution. The financial burden cannot be shifted to the shoulders of the government neither in preventing nor in correcting the dent. Multiple interlocutory and interim application were filed in this case after the dismissal of the writ petition, the review petition and the curative petition by the court. The judge, in this case, Justice Dalveer Bhandari considered that it is easier for men with power and authority to disobey or comply with the judicial pronouncements.

In the cases of Research Foundation For Science, Technology National Resource Policy v Union of India and Arr and Vellore citizens' welfare Forum v Union of India and others the judges respectively ended up with the conclusion that principles such as the precautionary principle, the polluter pays principle was already considered as a part of the customary practices of international laws for the protection of the environment. Hence, the principle ought to be included in environmental laws of India, according to the Judges.

The judges further improved the scope of implementation

Flaws in the polluter pays principle

Vehicular emissions are the largest contributors to air pollution, nearly two-thirds of death in 2015, which could be as much as 3,35,000 deaths, were due to emissions from the exhaust of diesel engines. The effluents discharged into the water bodies can be minimised by good management. The treatment of polluted air is an unfeasible task. Moreover, when an entire city or an entire nation is affected by air pollution, it is even more challenging. At times, such as in cities in northern India, where even the annual rainfall is scarce and the cities are landlocked, steps taken by the government are never enough to combat air pollution.

Air pollution due to the vehicular emission clearly exceeds the air pollution due to industrial emission. Yet the main focus of this article is on industrial pollution. As compensation for industrial pollution is primarily emphasized in the 'polluter pays principle', is it the owner of the vehicle or the manufacturer who is to be punished for the vehicular emission?

Unfortunately, there is no clear mention in the 'polluter pays principle' as to who is to be made liable for the vehicular emission.

Applying the principles through a carbon trading system.

The polluter pays principle can be applied to greenhouse gas emitters through a so called 'carbon price'. This imposes a charge on the emission of greenhouse gases equivalent to the corresponding potential cost caused through future climate change, forcing emitters to take on, or internalise, the cost of pollution. This is called the Social Cost of Carbon (SCC), which many mainstream economists consider to be the best method of our pricing carbon.

The carbon price can make the polluter pay through two different policy instruments:

◦ The first is a straight forward price-based mechanism in the form of a carbon tax, where the price of pollution is determined by the rate of the tax for each tonne of greenhouse gas emitted.

◦ The second is through a quota-based system, often referred to as a cap-and-trade, or emissions trading system. This sets a cap, or limit, on the maximum level of emissions for a given time period and distributes permits or allowances for each unit of greenhouse gas among firms that produce emissions. Some firms find it easier or cheaper to reduce emissions than others, and can thus sell permits to firms for whom the cost of reducing emissions

Some firms find it easier or cheaper to reduce emissions than others, and can thus sell permits to firms for whom the cost of reducing emissions is much higher. Therefore emissions trading takes place between high-cost and low-cost polluters, thereby determining the price of a polluting permit. The polluters have 'paid' through ensuring they have enough permits to cover their total emissions for a given year.

Landmark Judgements.

Indian Council For Enviro-legal vs. Union of India & Ors

An environmentalist organization brought into notice the sufferings and woes of the inhabitants of a small village called Bichhori in Udaipur district in Rajasthan. An industrial complex primarily involved in manufacturing chemicals was located in the village, Bichhori. The emission of concentrated sulphuric acid and aluminium sulphate from one of industry, Hindustan Agro chemical limited caused discomfort in the lives of the villagers. The effluents from the factory were very difficult to deal with as it was refractory in nature. Many of the chemicals percolated into the soil polluting the groundwater and aquifers underneath. The polluted water even destroyed the standing crop. As a result, the villagers had to bear the brunt of barren agricultural lands. Hence, the judgement was held that whoever engaged in an activity which involves usage of inherently dangerous substance shall be liable to pay the damages so caused to human and nature.

Vellore Citizens Welfare Forum vs Union of India & Ors

A PIL under article 32 of the Indian constitution has been filed by an NGO named vellore citizens welfare Forum about the pollution caused due to enormous discharge of untreated sewage by tanneries and other industries in Tamilnadu. The untreated sewage is discharged into the agricultural lands, open lands, and waterways and finally into the Palay river which is the main source of water supply to the residents of that area. It was stated that the entire surface and subsoil if the water surface have been polluted due to this untreated sewage discharge and resulting in the non-availability of water to the area's residents. It was found in the survey conducted by the Tamilnadu Agricultural University Research Centre that more the 35,000 hectares of agricultural lands have become either partially or totally unfit for agriculture in tanneries belt due to the excessive use of chemicals and dyes which results in spoilage of quality of the soil & contaminated the groundwater

The Taj Trapezium Case.

In M.C. Mehta vs Union of India and Ors it was reiterated by the apex court the reiterated the 'polluter pays principle' and emphasized the need of application of the principle. The yellowing and decaying of the priceless nation monument, the Taj Mahal, was a matter of concern in this case. According to the report of the National Environment Engineering Report Institute and Vaidarajan Committee in 1990 and 1995 respectively, the foundries, chemical industry and Mathura refineries were the major polluter of the Taj Mahal. The court ordered the industries to switch to gas from fuel oil shift their location of work. The industries which did not comply with orders, those industries were shut down unconditionally. Justice, Kuldip Singh added a new dimension to the 'polluter pays principle'. He stated that the workers of the industries should suffer as a result of closure or shifting of location.

The workers were ought to be given compensatory benefits in the form of residential accommodation, canteen etc. Since then the courts have time and again have emphasized that the rights and duties of the worker cannot be compromised with. This incident was a watershed in the incident was a watershed in the history of environmental law management.

Conclusion.

Although there is no statutory mandate on the 'polluter pays principle'. Nevertheless, it takes more effort in convincing people to the principle have been clear, crisp and undisputable. It was realised that industries are also social units having rights and duties towards their surroundings and community. The old concept of development hand in hand with ecological balance does not hold good in the 21st century yet managing nature in the name of development is no more acceptable.

If in fact, the Lockdown mandated throughout the world during the coronavirus infection is best to nature. The animals of nature coming to streets during the lockdown is analogous to humans captured in cages and animals on a visit. Over the years our behaviour towards nature has been inhumane. Nature has been put to overwork in the last decades. It's high time for us to care for mother nature.

The principles such as 'polluter pays' 'precautionary principle' and 'Sustainable development' should be ideally inbuilt in us. It should be in our subconscious mind that each and every activity that we do should not be harming nature. Little steps taken towards nature such as carpooling, avoiding use plastic can go a long way if taken by every citizen. Many institutions and universities have started planting trees on special occasions such as independence day, environment day.

etc. such steps are necessary for sustainable development. Balanced development is a prerequisite for harmony between nature and us. These steps should be habits of the millennials.

REPORT
MOCK TRIAL

The Law College hosted a mock trial session held on 15/10/2023 to provide students with practical experience in the courtroom setting. Mock trial is a competitive trial simulation activity for college undergraduates.

Through classroom, courtroom and competition experience, students learn advanced evidence and trial techniques and participate in simulated trials. While moot court replicates the appellate setting, mock trials allow students to practice lower-court trials. They represent a party, prepare a case for trial and try the case to court.

Mock trial is a simulated courtroom experience where students acted as lawyers, witnesses, and other courtroom roles to present a hypothetical legal case. Participation helped student's critical thinking, public speaking, and teamwork skills.

DTSS COLLEGE OF LAW

DEBATE COMPETITION FOR LLB AND LLM

INTRODUCTION:

A debate is an organized argument or contest of ideas in which the participants discuss a topic from two opposing sides. A pre-decided set of topics were given to the students in order for them to prepare themselves with their argument. Those who agree with this statement or idea are on the "Pro" side. Those who do not agree with this statement or idea are on the "Con" side. Each side was expected to show in a factual and organized way why they believe to be on a particular side. They are expected to use examples, case studies, articles from legal magazines or newspapers, statistics and evidence to support their views and ideas while working towards a conclusion. The aim of a debate is to convince the opposition that they are right. When the two sides agree on the subject or when one side's arguments are more convincing than the other side, that is when the debate comes to a close. However as this was a formal debate competition, a mediator (a team of professors) heard both the sides and after keen analysis decide to call out the winner. This event took place on July 23rd, 2022 Saturday 10:00am onwards in the Assembly Hall in presence of the coordinator Prof. Nagraju Kundari and teaching faculties Prof. Sarla Gupta, Prof. Rajesh Thakrar, Prof. Basanti Negi and Prof. Bhranti Desai and the participants from LLB and LLM and the list for the same with their attendance has been attached below.

CONTINUOUS EVALUATION PROCESS

At college, a continuous evaluation process is implemented to assess students' performance. Unlike traditional methods relying solely on exams, this approach involves ongoing assessment through paper presentations, viva-voce, assignments and class participation. It provides a comprehensive view of students' understanding and progress throughout the semester, fostering continuous learning and timely feedback. This method not only enhances academic rigour but also prepares students for real-world challenges by encouraging consistent effort and improvement. Thus, the college ensures a thorough evaluation that reflects students' overall development.
