

REPORT WITH PHOTOGRAPHS ON PROGRAMS RELATED TO ICT/TECHNOLOGY SKILLS IN LEGAL PROCESS

The integration of technology in the legal process has transformed how legal services are delivered, making them more efficient, accessible, and effective. One of the most significant impacts of technology is the digitization of legal documents and records. This allows for easier storage, retrieval, and management of vast amounts of legal information, which can be accessed quickly by legal professionals and the public. Artificial Intelligence (AI) and machine learning are being utilized to enhance legal research and case analysis.

1. Legal Research and Databases: Technology has transformed legal research. Online databases provide extensive legal resources, case laws, statutes, and articles. Students can access a vast array of legal documents and precedents at the click of a button, enabling more efficient and comprehensive research. Preparation for Paper Presentation and Moot Exercises require extensive online research. Students use Computer Lab to embrace these technological tools and platforms to stay competitive and effective in their future legal careers. [Copies of sessions attached].
2. Computer Lab: The presence of a dedicated Computer Lab in a college provides students with a vital resource for integrating technology into the legal process, enhancing their learning experience and practical skills. This lab is equipped with modern computing facilities, high-speed internet, and specialized legal software, which are crucial for contemporary legal education. [Photograph of the Compute Lab attached].

Note: The file being voluminous, sample documents are attached for ready reference.
